Open Floor Plans

Perfect For Anyone Who Loves To Entertain

This house plan is perfect for anyone who loves to host gatherings of family and friends. The open floor plan is especially supportive of entertaining. The open design of this home plan allows conversation and visiting to span the entirety of the living space, meaning those in the kitchen do not get left out!

Without walls separating the kitchen and dining room this also allows for ease of access through large groups gathered together in your home. There is less trying to work around people and walls and more time spent laughing at uncle bob's awful dad jokes.
