Description

Maybe you're upsizing, maybe you're looking for better, or maybe you just want to feel free as a bird in your home. Whatever the case, deer run house designs are a fairy tale come true for families looking for a home that combines low country style and rustic appeal. This home depicts cottage living at its best. It is the perfect hideaway for the mountains, by the lake or near the beach. Tastefully designed and affordable to build, the deer run design is perfectly asymmetrical, with high-pitched roof lines and interconnecting gables. A massive chimney dominates one side of the house, providing a friendly hearth that brings family and friends together. Small windows with cute panes frame the outdoor gardens and scenes. Its charming front porch is the ideal place to set up a couple of rocking chairs, or even hang a swing, and take the load off your heels. Inside, the living room features a fireplace, massive windows and several French doors that open to the beautiful porch surrounding the house. The kitchen offers quick and easy access to the dining and great room. Furthermore, it has a massive walk-in pantry with counter spaces overlooking the dining room and great room. The fireplace in the great room conveniently warms the dining room and the kitchen. With warmth wafting all over the house and the soothing smells of a sumptuous dinner being prepared in the adjacent kitchen, the deer run design provides nothing short of an extraordinary living experience. An extra-spacious rear bedroom makes use of the main floor while the second bedroom enjoys a spacious sleeping area upstairs. On the other side of the house, you'll find another bedroom and a full bathroom. The deer run floor plan — also known as the hunting lodge floor plan — has 3,212 square feet of living space and three bedrooms and three full bathrooms. Designed with a growing family in mind, the deer run house plan radiates a comforting sense of home.
