Description

My great grandparents built this cabin back in the fifties and we still spend our summers and fall weekends there enjoying the lake and playing cards at night. My granddad told me about the time my great-grandfather caught a wild turkey and let it go inside the cabin. Good thing it was blind in one eye – he finally caught it an hour later but couldn't find grandma for awhile! And the old stone fireplace is actually made of the rock they found on their fishing trips. This family cabin we call Carol's Cabin is full of wonderful memories that we'll never forget.
